Palm Sunday

OF THE PASSION OF THE LORD

At the name of Jesus
every knee should bend . . .
and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord.

FROM THE PASTOR’S DESK

Manus Manum Lavat
It means hand washes hand. Plain and simple. How do you wash your hand? By using the other hand. During this time of pandemic, this old maxim has become so relevant. Wash your hands and do it often. It’s the best antidote to infection; much better than hand sanitizer.
The saying also speaks to us on a deeper level. We help one another. We serve one another. In these times of anxiety and uncertainty, the more we need one another. It’s not the time to self-absorbed but to be more mindful of others; to know how they are faring. Shelter-in-place may restrict us from being together physically but it doesn’t prevent us from connecting with one another. We can always make a call, text a message. scribble a note or send an email. One never knows just how the mere sound of a human voice can be a source of comfort and relief to someone who is virtually shut in with only the television or cat for company. An offer to do grocery or errand for an elderly who is very susceptible to infection virus is like This is the time to stay connected.
I've been doing that lately. Calling on parishioners to see how they are doing, sending out an email blast every day to all in my distribution list (if you’re not getting an email and you want to be in the list, just send me a note at brillantesmichael@gmail.com. In addition, I upload my daily masses and because of the surge of users which account for a longer time to upload, I do an early morning mass so I have enough time to broadcast the mass. Here’s the link to the Saint Bruno channel I created in YouTube: https://www.youtube.com/channel/UC6lg4-tyJ6c7fCwlG32cHqg/
We will livestream the liturgical celebrations of the Holy Week the schedule of which is printed in this bulletin. For Palm Sunday, you can have palms in your home and wave them during the blessing of the palm. At the Mass of the Lord’s Supper, you can receive spiritual communion. On Good Friday, you can meditate with us on the passion and death of the Lord and bow or genuflect before a crucifix at your home during the veneration of the cross. Join us for the Easter vigil for the renewal of baptismal promises and again on the following day, Easter Sunday, to celebrate the resurrection of the Lord.
The story of Jesus’ suffering, death and resurrection has become in a very real sense our story, too. Let us continue to pray and support each other.

Catechism Corner by Kacey Carey, DRE

This Palm Sunday is more fully realized by all of us than previous Palm Sundays. Whether we want to or not, we have walked with Jesus through his passion. We are like the fickle crowd praising him one minute, then calling for his death the next. Overnight we have sacrificed our mobility, companionship, employment and access to public areas. We have voluntarily restricted our access to necessities of life. Most have had their finances severely cut, making food and shelter a priority. We have declined to hug, kiss or touch others, which used to be the way love was shown to Christians. With the exception of love, most have shed the non essentials. We are focusing more on maintaining our relationship with Jesus and family even at a distance. All this sacrificing must mean that we are heading for an eventual crown.

Relevant Radio (1260AM) has stated more people are watching/hearing mass and devotions now than previously ever recorded. We are in a "boot camp" preparing ourselves for a future of less material things, more prioritizing of what is important. This is our opportunity to show Christ's love to others, phoning home bound people and forgiving others. This is the time to take advantage of daily plenary indulgences for our deceased relatives. We can empty Purgatory with this prolonged Lent. We can use the time to gather around the family table, learn something new about our faith and emerge better Catholics. We can become the mother, father, children, friend and neighbor that God wants us to be.

"I am every day more convinced that happiness in heaven is for those who know how to be happy on earth." St. Josemaria Escriva
